

Broadway on Tour Presents
CREATING A CHARACTER
THROUGH THE ART OF IMPROV

with Danny Blaylock

Wednesday November 30

This is an acting workshop in which students will focus on creating characters found within themselves. They will then take those characters and apply them to aspects of storytelling, while learning and following the fundamental rules of long form improv. The main objective is to teach the importance of play and imagination.

Danny Blaylock is a proud alum of Broadway on Tour! Past performances include Albert in Bye Bye Birdie, Daddy Warbucks in Annie, and The Cowardly Lion in The Wizard of Wonderland. A little over twenty years later, Danny had the amazing opportunity to return to Broadway on Tour to direct Frozen Jr with his brother John by his side. Danny is currently the Artistic Director for The Imagination Machine, a company that brings children's stories to life on a stage through improv and music. He has also spent the last ten years performing at the Disneyland Resort and can currently be found doing so under the tent at the Royal Theatre.
